Description

Testimonials

First, lead yourself.

Leading yourself and others during turbulent times can be tricky, but great self-management and self-leadership doesn't come by accident, it requires focused attention. The need to manage and lead yourself well is necessary if you want to consistently make the right choices and take the right actions.

Mastering these skills will serve you well, both personally and professionally, and will help you to be at your best when you encounter challenges of change and uncertainty.

Packed with practical advice and grounded in research, the author Joy Marsden will share simple ways to...

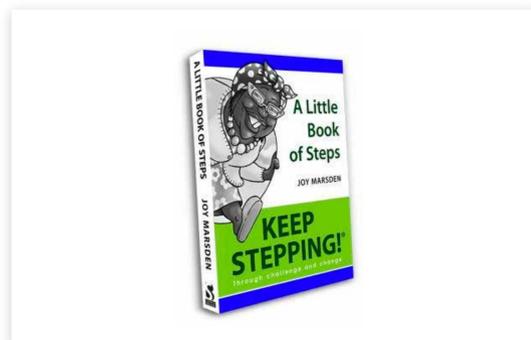

- Shred the things that don't serve you
- Tune in and understand situations clearly
- Bring to the surface skills that may be lying dormant
- Take action based on your values
- Lead your way through change and uncertainty

Achieving in life is only a part of your success. The person you are, how people see you and the way others respond to you make up the other parts. Start building on the character traits that will help you secure a great future. Go on... take the step!

Written Testimonials

You Pitched it Perfectly

“ The presentation was pitched at the correct level, using relevant examples with a strong undertone of humour, making the speaker captivating ”

Guy Hodges (Group Sales Director, Civica)

You Pitched it Perfectly

“ You pitched it perfectly to the audience, in content, mood, enthusiastic delivery, establishing your credibility, entertaining but, ultimately, leaving us thinking and open to new ideas ”

Alison Ahearn (Faculty of Engineering, Imperial College)

Really Useful and Inspiring

“ Thanks for a really useful and inspiring session. I got a huge amount from it and have no doubt that your book will extend this further! ”

Ben Freeborn (Head of Marketing, Interflora)

Delivered in a fresh and fun way

“ I just wanted to send you an email to say how much I really enjoyed your session yesterday. I have come away feeling very energised by not only your content but also the way in which you delivered the content in a fresh and 'fun' way. I will remember your words for a very long time; having started to read your book, I strongly suspect I will be picking it up many times in years to come. ”
